Between the Mediterranean sea and Ariège, in the heart of the Pyrenean foothills, stand imposing stone citadels the Cathar castles. These fortresses are the living memory of a tragic history that marked the southwest of France during the Albigensian Crusade.

Starting from Carcassonne and its famous medieval city, you will set out to discover the most renowned sites and castles of Cathar history, surrounded by breathtaking and diverse landscapes that your guide will be delighted to unveil. In the Aude department, you'll have the chance to visit the eagle's nest of Quéribus, the incredible fortress of Peyrepertuse, and Puilaurens, the epitome of a stronghold.

In Ariège, you'll explore Montségur Castle, the highest of the Cathar castles, perched on its "pog" at an altitude of 1,207 meters. Then, before reaching the city of Foix and its castle, you'll visit Montségur's close neighbor, Roquefixade, perched atop an impressive cliff.

Beyond discovering a region and its heavy, ever-present history, Cathar Country is rich in stunning and varied landscapes, shaped by the blending influences of Mediterranean and mountain climates. It is also sculpted by nature's work, which carved gorges into limestone, shaped rocky outcrops, and provided mankind, throughout the ages, with natural resources to explore and cherish.

•PROGRAM

Day 1: Start of the Trip in CARCASSONNE or FOIX

- For those arriving by train: Meet at 6:45 PM at the hotel in Carcassonne (located 300m from the train station).
- For those arriving by car: Meet at 5:15 PM in front of Foix train station (09). (Free, unattended parking available on site). Transfer to Carcassonne.

Settle into your accommodation. A welcome drink and trip briefing will take place in the heart of the medieval city, where you will also have dinner. What a wonderful medieval setting for your first evening !

Day 2: From Carcassonne to Quéribus

Castle In the morning, visit and discover the famous medieval city of Carcassonne. Late morning, transfer to Quéribus Castle, the "citadel of vertigo." Built on its rocky peak, this true eagle's nest was the last stronghold of Cathar resistance during the Albigensian Crusade in 1255. Perched at 788m, the summit terrace of the keep offers breathtaking views, from the peak of Canigou to the plains of Roussillon and Corbières. Then, head to Duilhac-sous-Peyrepertuse for a short hike through the Corbières vineyards, fragrant scrubland, and overlooking the refreshing Verdoubert gorges with their turquoise pools. Overnight in Duilhac-sous-Peyrepertuse.

- Distance: 8 km, Ascent +200 m, Descent: -200 m, Transfer: 1h40

Day 3: From the Galamus Gorges to Peyrepertuse

Castle Short transfer to the Galamus Gorges. The day's hike begins at the entrance to the gorges, an impressive canyon carved into limestone, an extraordinary natural site. The Agly River, known as the "eagle's river," has carved its way through the rock with cascading waterfalls, while a road built in 1884 clings midway up the cliff. The route continues towards the fortress of Peyrepertuse: the castle stands at 800m altitude on a limestone ridge. It is one of the finest examples of Cathar fortresses, part of the former defense line known as the "five sons of Carcassonne." Overnight in Duilhac-sous-Peyrepertuse.

- Distance: 11 km, Ascent: +620 m, Descent: -500 m, Transfer: 25 min

Day 4: From Duilhac to Comus, Between Castle Visits and Panoramic Hiking

Transfer from Duilhac to Puilaurens (45 min) and visit the eponymous castle. Perched on a rocky spur at 697m, in the heart of a coniferous forest, this majestic site is accessed via a botanical trail. Then continue towards Comus and the Sault Plateau for a hike to Roc de Quercourt, offering magnificent views of the high peaks of the Ariège Pyrenees. Overnight in Comus.

- Distance: 2.5 km; Ascent: +170 m; Descent: -170 m (Puilaurens Castle)
- Distance: 5 km, Ascent: +200 m, Descent: -200 m (Roc de Quercourt)

Day 5: From Comus to Foix, by Montségur, a major and emblematic site of Catharism

In the morning, we visit Montségur Castle, perched on its "pog." It symbolizes the resistance of the declining Cathar Church against the Roman Church, the King of France, and Northern lords seeking the fertile lands of the South. They seized the site after the surrender and the infamous burning of 1244. After this visit, we head to the beautiful bastide village of Roquefixade for a hike along the Cathar Trail to Foix. This panoramic hike also reveals the perched ruins of Roquefixade Castle. Overnight in Foix.

- Distance: 16 km, Duration: about 6 hours, Ascent: +500 m, Descent: -800 m, Transfer: 40 min

Day 6: A Favorite Hike in the Stunning Ariège Pyrenees

For this final day, we suggest gaining some elevation—your guide has carte blanche! Foix is the final stage of the Cathar Trail but also an ideal starting point for exploring the high valleys and viewpoints of the Ariège Pyrenees. This is your chance to discover them. Water is omnipresent here, so we'll opt for a hike to one of our magnificent mountain lakes! And the cherry on top: since Friday is market day in Foix, the picnic will feature fresh, ultra-local products!

- Maximum Distance: 12 km, Duration: about 6 hours, Maximum Elevation gain: +650 m, Maximum Elevation loss: -600 m, Transfer: 30 min

Day 7: Free Exploration of Foix and Its Castle, End of the Trip at Foix

Day 7 in Foix: why not take the opportunity to visit the town??

•TOTAKE IN YOUR LUGGAGE

Your follow-up bag:

For logistical reasons, we ask you to limit the weight of your follow-up bag to a maximum of 12kg or 15kg, no rigid suitcases, and only one follow-up bag per person.

The backpack:

The size of the backpack is very important and may vary depending on the type of trip.

- For a hike without luggage transport: minimum 30L
- For a hike with light or partial luggage transport: minimum 50L
- For a hike with full luggage transport: minimum 60L

This should contain:

- Bottom of the bag (rain gear, warm clothing, spare t-shirt, sunglasses, sunscreen, first aid kit, picnic essentials, personal items, etc.)
- Picnic lunch for the day (bring a plastic container)
- Sufficient water (minimum 1.5L water bottle)

Shoes:

This is one of the most important elements. They must be, above all, comfortable, waterproof, and breathable. Good ankle support is essential. If you need to buy a new pair, we recommend trying them before your trip. Don't choose a pair that's too small, as your feet will tend to swell. For shorter hikes, we recommend soft trekking shoes with a good sole and solid heel support. For hikes over 4 hours in the mountains, plan for high-top shoes with a stiff sole. Be careful of shoes that have been left in the closet for too long. The lifespan of shoes is 2 to 5 years. After some time, the soles may detach, and seams may tear.

Specific clothing for hiking:

- A waterproof windbreaker (Gore-Tex)
- A fleece jacket or sweater
- Hiking pants, shorts, and t-shirts (preferably breathable materials)
- Spare clothes and personal items
- A swimsuit and towel
- For the start and end of the season, pack thin gloves and a hat for high-altitude hikes

Sleeping gear:

- A sleeping bag liner is essential for all trips involving nights in guesthouses or refuges (blankets provided).
- Earplugs.

Picnic:

- Cutlery (fork, folding knife)
- Minimum 1.5L water bottle or Camelback (much more practical)

Small equipment:

- A pair of tennis shoes or sandals for the evening
- A pair of telescoping poles (optional)
- Sunglasses and sunscreen
- Hat, cap, or bucket hat
- Camera
- A small toiletry kit, with a towel
- A flashlight or headlamp
- Toilet paper
- A mini first aid kit: personal medication, Compeed for blisters, elastoplast, gauze, disinfectant, arnica pellets, and aspirin for small injuries... and a survival blanket.
